

YOUTH'S SKULL IS FRACTURED AT COLUMBIANA

Stone, Aimed at Dog, Hits Harry Oesch, Jr., Riding Bicycle

LAD'S CONDITION IS SERIOUS TODAY

East Palestine Woman Is Injured In Automobile Accident

A Columbiana boy and an East Palestine woman were in Salem City hospital today, victims in two different kinds of accidents.

The youth, Harry Oesch Jr., 13-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Oesch of R. D. 2, Columbiana, suffered a fractured skull when struck by a stone thrown by another boy, Robert Kyser, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Kyser of Elm st., Columbiana, yesterday afternoon.

Condition Serious

His condition is described as serious. It is reported that Kyser aimed the stone at a dog and tossed the missile just as Young Oesch, riding his bicycle, came onto the alley between Main and Elms streets at Columbiana. A physician who first treated Oesch said the accident was purely accidental.

Mrs. Charles Haggerty, 32, of Bacon ave., East Palestine, suffered a fractured left ankle and right wrist and a broken nose, when the automobile in which she was riding with her brother, Elwood Waite of East Palestine, struck a culvert on the Columbiana-New Waterford road, one and one-half miles east of Columbiana at 3:30 p. m. yesterday. The victim's condition is said to be fair.

State Highway Patrolman R. I. Governor of Salem said Waite was forced to leave the road in an attempt to avoid striking a machine driven by Thomas Reed of 16 West Madison ave., Youngstown. Waite escaped unhurt.

Backs Into Highway

Governor said Reed, observing a nearby barn on fire, drove into a side road and then backed out directly in the path of the other car.

Rube Hodge, 44, of R. D. 1, East Palestine, was arrested on a charge of driving while intoxicated, after his automobile collided with another car driven by Paul Burson, 27, of R. D. 1, Boston, on the Fairfield road, two miles from Columbiana, at 10 p. m. Monday.

No one was hurt. Patrolman governor said Hodge, who was lodged in the village jail at Columbiana, was driving on the wrong side of the road. The defendant was to be arraigned before Mayor C. J. Hart at Columbiana sometime today.

Machines driven by Frank DePari, 21, of R. D. 1, New Waterford, and Anthony Wysocky, 28, of Canton, figured in a minor collision on Route 62, just north of Salem, at 1 a. m. yesterday. No one was hurt.

Deputy Sheriff Mike Duty investigated an accident at Eagleton's Glen below Salem at 12:50 p. m. yesterday caused when a truck driven by Noah Bobrow of Beaver, Pa., failed to negotiate a curve in the road and went over an embankment. Bobrow escaped with only minor scratches.

Three Alarms Keep City Firemen Busy

Three alarms kept city firemen on the jump Monday afternoon. The first call at 2:02 p. m. was to the railroad siding at the Mullins plant where a rubbish fire had set two box cars afire. The blaze was extinguished before serious damage was done.

A short circuit in the wiring of an automobile, licensed L-138-R, parked on South Edgewood ave., brought firemen to the scene at 3:03 p. m. and at 4:25 p. m. the firemen extinguished a grass fire at 838 South Union ave.

Boy Mibs Shooters--You'd Better Practice Up, Because The Girls Will Compete, Too

In Fact, Some of Them Have Reached the National Tournament; Plans for The News Contests Progressing Rapidly

Guess what girls? The most popular player at the last two national marble tournaments in Ocean City, N. J., was a girl.

Yes, believe it or not a girl played in the national tourneys along with boys from more than 100 cities the United States.

She was little June Lapham of Cleveland, recognized as the best girl marble shooter of all time and a young lady who asks no favors of boys and plays right along with the best of them.

Now, you young ladies reading this are probably saying that June Laphams are few and far between. Well, to a certain extent, we're inclined to agree with you, but we because some of the best marble shooters developed never had any experience in tournament play. Take it for granted that girls are no strangers in marble tournaments. A great many participate in Canton and other nearby tournaments and several have won their school championships. Boys naturally are most likely winners, but in recent years, girls have been making surprisingly good showings in tournament play, despite the fact that they have little or no experience.

If a girl should win The News tournament she will be taken to Canton, properly chaperoned, for play in the district event.

It's your chance to show up the boys. Let's see if you girls can do it. Arrangements for the mibs tournament are rapidly nearing completion. Joe Kelley, director of the tourney, will talk with school principals tomorrow and make plans for starting the play-offs for room championships. Copies of tournament rules will also be given to the teachers by Kelley. These will be distributed among the students who plan to enter the tournament.

Perhaps you're a bit out of practice or maybe you've never even tried your hand at marbles. In either case, it makes no difference.

SEEK SOLUTION TO LABOR WARS

Industrial, Union Leaders Attend Secretary Perkins' Rally

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, April 20.—Mahoning county's two Democratic senators fought verbally last night over whether the City of Campbell in their district should be given a municipal court.

The usual skirmish ended in victory for Senator Maurice W. Lipscher as the senate passed, 24 to 2, his bill to establish the court. The measure now goes to the house.

The negative votes were cast by Senator J. Ralph Seidner, Lipscher's colleague from Mahoning, and Senator W. F. Garver (D., Holmes).

The bill was approved upon reconsideration after first having been defeated when it failed to receive the constitutional majority of 19 votes. The first vote was 14 yeas, 9 no.

The majority of senators threw their support to the measure when the youthful Lipscher informed them that the fees would more than finance the court. Prior to the first roll call he spoke only briefly.

Seidner told the senate he did not believe that Campbell, a suburb of Youngstown, could support a municipal court because of its financial condition. Cost of the court was estimated at $15,000 a year.

RELIEF FUNDS THROW BUDGET OUT OF BALANCE

U. S. Sees Another Year Of Spending In Excess Of Income

BILLION AND HALF SEEN FOR NEEDY

President's Revised Budget Goes To Congress Today

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, April 20.—The administration, sticking to a no-new-taxes fiscal program, projected today another year of spending in excess of income.

President Roosevelt's revised budget, ready for submission to congress this afternoon, was reported by Senator Robinson (D., Ark.) to call for a $1,500,000,000 relief appropriation for the year beginning July 1.

Might Have Been Cut

Robinson, the Democratic leader, said after a White House conference attended last night by congressional and administration leaders.

"Some members (of congress) believe the relief appropriation might have been reduced to $1,000,000,000."

Mr. Roosevelt tentatively estimated relief expenditures for the 1938 fiscal year at $1,500,000,000 in his January budget message. A group of mayors and governors then asked that this figure be lifted to $2,200,000,000. Other interests have urged that it be trimmed.

Robinson said last night's conference developed strong sentiment that "every practical effort should be made to limit expenditures and appropriations so as to close as soon as possible the gap between income and outgo." He added, however:

"The indications are that if appropriations are confined to estimates, the (1938) budget will be out of balance."

"It is thought ways may be found without increasing taxes to bring the deficit to a narrow margin."

No New Taxes Seen

The senate leader joined with Chairman Doughton (D-NC) of the house ways and means committee in saying that no new taxes were contemplated at this session.

The White House conference designed to put finishing touches on a broad revamping of income and spending estimates for both the 1937 and 1938 fiscal years.

K-C DELEGATES ARE SELECTED

Frank Fink and Robert Tubbs to Represent Council at State Convention May 22, 23, 24

Frank Fink and Grand Knight Robert Tubbs last night were elected delegates by Salem council No. 1818, Knights of Columbus, to attend the state convention in Columbus on May 22, 23 and 24.

Plans were discussed for securing larger club rooms necessitated by the increased membership, but definite arrangements were not made.

Twelve candidates from Salem, together with a group from Leontonia and East Palestine, will receive the first degree at a meeting here on May 3 when the Salem team will be in charge. A social hour is scheduled following the degree work.

Major degree work will feature a district meeting in Salem on June 6. East Liverpool degree staff will present the second degree work and Frank Jones of Cleveland, state deputy and other state officers will be in charge of the third degree.

Columbiana Hears State Secretary

COLUMBIANA, April 20.—Terminating the Ohio penitentiary "a disgrace to the state," Secretary of State William J. Kennedy addressed Rotarians and Kiwanians at a joint club meeting here last night.

Ohio's criminal population has increased 110 per cent in the last 10 years, he added, and went on to explain that one-sixth of the state's population is dependent upon relief or welfare in some form. The 22 state institutions for criminals, insane persons and other dependents are over-crowded, he said.

Thousands Witness Rehearsal of Coronation

Scores of thousands in London were treated to a preview of coronation ceremonies when a rehearsal of the procession was staged during the early morning hours over the same route which will be traversed on May 12. The rehearsal was called to enable authorities in charge of the spectacle to obtain a better idea of the timing and what provisions will be necessary to handle the crowd. Screen Lover Gable Leaves Cameras For Court Room To Deny That He Is A Father

Film Hero Government's No. 1 Witness In Mail Fraud Trial

(By Associated Press) LOS ANGELES, April 20.—Clark Gable brusquely swapped his make-up box for a witness chair today, to deny under solemn oath that he is a father.

The screen lover became witness No. 1 in the mail fraud trial of Mrs. Violet Wells Norton, whose attempt to establish the paternity of her 13-year-old daughter resulted in her arrest last January.

Mrs. Norton, the government charges, wrote Gable for money in recent years on the plea he had "wooded and won" her in England in 1922-23.

Witness No. 2 on the list of Assistant U. S. Attorney Jack Powell today was diamond-featured Mae West, best known for her sociological screen study, "She Done Him Wrong." It was to Miss West that Mrs. Norton assertedly addressed a letter a year ago asking for a motion picture opportunity for young Gwendoline, "Gable's child."

"What a shame it would put Gable to if he knew Mae West had given his child a start in life," the message read. "I've written him for the last five years and he won't answer my letters."

Four townsmen from Portland, radio commentator Jimmy Fidler and publicity man Terrell DeLapp were relied on by Prosecutor Powell to complete the government's case in a day or so.

The Oregonians were expected to testify that Gable was selling neckties and lumberjacking in the Pacific northwest at the time Mrs. Norton claimed he was her suitor.

"We've shown the report of a blockade is Tommy-rot. The way to Bilbao is open for shipping."

Won't Convoys Ships The British government, before the land and sea patrol went into operation, ordered its warships not to convoy British merchant vessels.

Salesman Made One Call And Sold Entire Output

E. V. George of Lisbon, Back From Florida, Recalls Manufacture of Soda Straw Machines

LISBON, April 20.—There are a few of the older generation in this village who remember the original machine for manufacturing soda straws and the bonanza it proved for the far-sighted men who backed the inventor.

One of these is E. V. George, recently returned from a winter in Florida. Mr. George was one of a group of Lisbon men who saw the advantages of the machine and aided H. J. Britton, the inventor, in patenting and exploiting the device.

An organization known as The Union Manufacturing Co. was formed about 1900 with George as salesman. He was also the company's first and only salesman, establishing a unique record. As salesman he made one call, selling the company's entire output to this customer.

He describes his experience with a twinkle in his eye. The customer's office was filled with people waiting to see him when George walked in. Learning the nature of his product and the name of the company, the prospect ignored the others, some of whom had been cooling their heels for an hour. "Come right in, Mr. George," he said cordially.

The young salesman began a carefully rehearsed sales talk. The customer waved a careless hand. "I'll take your entire production," he told his caller.

From that time on no salesmen were necessary. Orders poured into the company from all parts of the country. More machines were quickly built in an effort to stem the tide. For eight years the organization was swamped with orders. Then they sold the patent and equipment to the Stone Straw Co., of Washington, D. C.

The Washington concern pre-empted the Lisbon company in the manufacture of straws by several years. But they did all their work by hand, a slow and tedious process. Britton's machine turned them out at the rate of 100 a minute, the paper feeding through a parafining tank from rolls to a spiraling device which shaped them.

GREAT BRITAIN ORDERS BOOST IN INCOME TAX

Gasps of Astonishment Greet Message In Commons Today

MONEY WILL PAY FOR REARMAMENT

Britishers' Incomes To Be Taxed A Dollar In Every Four

LONDON, April 20.—Chancellor of the Exchequer Neville Chamberlain told a tense house of commons today that British income taxes will be increased 2.5 per cent to 25 per cent to pay the nation's rearmament bills.

Gasps of astonishment greeted the chancellor's declaration in his sixth budget message before a packed, parliamentary assembly.

Three Pence a Pound

The specific increase, he said, is three pence a pound, which brings the rate to five shillings a pound—or one dollar to every four earned by British taxpayers.

The tax will produce an expected 257,000,000 pounds sterling (approximately $1,375,000,000), Chamberlain said. Britain's armament bill eventually will be $7,500,000,000.

The chancellor, carrying the little red dispatch box which fiscal experts have used since Gladstone's time, mounted the speaker's stand before an audience of members, diplomats and distinguished visitors. Commons aisles were jammed.

Many members were forced from their regular benches into the galleries by the crush.

Chamberlain's audience included three former chancellors of the British exchequer—David Lloyd George, Winston Churchill and Sir Robert Horne.

"This year and several years to come our national finances must continue to be dominated by one overshadowing feature—the vast expenditure for defense," he said.

Reviews Finances The chancellor reviewed the nation's finances for the past year before launching into proposals for the future. He announced officially that the 1936-1937 deficit was $5,597,000 pounds sterling ($27,985,000).

"If it had not been for the big expenditure for military services, the nation's balance sheet would have shown a $1,000,000 surplus," Chamberlain told the house. "This would have been after debt redemption of $65,000,000."

The chancellor disclosed that income tax revenue fell nearly $8,000,000 short of that expected and that, likewise, income surtax proceeds were less than had been hoped.

HOLDING IT DOWN

Last January, the country was told in the executive's annual message on the budget that beginning with July, 1937, income and expense would be approximately even. Hope was held out, furthermore, for a surplus in the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1938.

These estimates were based on some big "ifs." If nothing unexpected happened, if relief expenditures declined and if private employment picked up, the United States would be out of the red in 1939. The statement was called unduly hopeful at the time.

The country now is informed, by means of an executive order to department heads to hold down expenses, that expenses will have to be held down to keep the deficit for the current year anywhere near its estimated size. It is officially "feared" the deficit may be far greater than $2,652,000,000 estimate named in the report last January. In other words the bad news is being broken gently.

For the year beginning next July 1, therefore, it does not seem advisable to hope for much. Reemployment is not cutting into relief rolls as deeply as it was expected to; income, apparently, has been over-estimated; expense is continuing to balloon upward.

A balanced budget in the next fiscal year doesn't seem likely. A surplus in the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1938, might still materialize, but in all likelihood the country will be lucky to achieve even a balance by that time. The millennium is receding into the 1940's.

It is the tendency of governmental expense always to be higher than estimates. It is the tendency of the population always to hope for a more favorable outcome than can be shown when the fiscal year ends. It is the tendency of politicians always to paint as rosy a picture as possible until the money begins to run out, then to paint it as black (i. e. "red") as possible.

Mr. Roosevelt, who has just expressed concern for the first time over the way things are going, apparently has decided (i. e. the time to get out the black paint (i. e. "red ink").

DON'T BE DUMB, MISTER

Some jobholders in the federal bureau of fisheries started singing out of tune last week about the silliness of excluding women from fishing trips because they're too noisy.

Even if he only was trying to make a hit with the wives of fishermen who periodically "go native" he's still on the wrong pitch. This department has made a study of the relationships in these cases.

There are three kinds of "fishing widows." The first kind wouldn't go fishing, even if invited. The second kind would go, if invited, but wouldn't be invited again. The third would go, would want to be invited again and would be. Why?

Because nothing so pleases a man as to discover that his wife genuinely enjoys going fishing with him. By the same token, nothing disgruntles him more than to discover that his wife doesn't really like to fish, but wants to tag along anyway and spoil the fun.

It has been in order to deal with this type of insincere sportswoman that men have devised various excuses like the one about women being too noisy, which the Washington bureaucrat now brightly discovers is nothing but bosh. Will wonders never cease!

O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

NEW YORK, April 20—Both the stage and screen seem to have been taken over this season by the Wonder Kiddies—the Shirley Temples, the Spanky MacFarlands, the Bobby Breens, the Jane Withers and the Deanna Durbins. To say nothing of the Major Bowes Amateur units on tour.

Indeed there has recently been organized in New York the Broadway Ewe Club. It is a sort of off-spring of the Lambs and was proposed by Sidney Lumet, the 12-year-old who plays such an important role in "The Eternal Road." They will have a play room and mentor.

Lumet has collected all the current child actors appearing this winter, and the list includes Tommy Gairn, 12, of White Horse Inn, James McCallion, 19, of But For the Grace of God, Billy Halop, 16, of Dead End, Claire Howard, 7, in Wingless Victory and Thaurita Bauer, of The Women.

To be eligible for the Ewes membership an actor or actress must have made a Broadway debut before 16. Never in the history of American theatre has the young Thespian had such a box office appeal. Two schools of youth drama have already opened.

Edgar Bergen is solely responsible for the amazing revival of ventriloquism, an entertainment so dead that Rudy Vallee in presenting the incomparable Bergen had to explain what a ventriloquist did. A younger generation hadn't the slightest idea. But today the agencies have more calls than they can fill, especially among the night clubs. Marshall Montgomery, once top in the profession, is now booked for eight months straight, after several years of having only a split week or a single night now and then.

And the magazines are featuring those ads: "Be a Ventriloquist—Pool Your Friends!" Remember!

New York has a Flea Market on Second avenue, in the 50's, patterned somewhat after the Marche des Puces in Paris, save privately owned. The Paris Flea Market is a motley collection of hawkers who sell everything from discarded hose to Louise XIV furniture. In New York the Flea Market is conducted by a Southern interior decorator who does many of the guild settings. His place is a delight to the antique prowlers who like to poke about the jinkie jumble and perhaps flush out a treasure.

Those exciting window displays around town these days are not only astonishing in their simplicity but make the path of the saunterer a gay adventure. Such as a jeweler's window whose exhibit has been focused to the size of a ship's porthole, revealing against a black plush background a single gleaming white pearl. Or a crystal bottle of rare perfume cradled in the thin crescent of a moon with a wisp of coral pink cloud floating by. The artistry is largely the handiwork of the young. One of the most noted prestidigitateurs is the youthful William Bayard Oakie, Jr. In the strive to attract the passer-by the great emporiums will pay enormous sums. Norman Bel Geddes is reputed to be drawing $1,000 a week for his suggestions in a large department store's window display. And those windows of invisible glass are a much fun as the trick mirrors in the old Penny Arcades. It's difficult when nobody's around not to try to reach in.

The all-night Coffee Pot places are not entirely patronized by pool room loafers, pickpockets, pick-thanks and sundry ruffians of the night. Many are getting what is known by the countermen as "the fashionable stay out" trade. That is the top-hatted and ermined swells who remain at the night clubs and private parties until the first pink of dawn. There is something larkish about mounting the stools—or as they say in Texas "riding the pony"—and drinking good (and it is good) coffee out of thick cups and listening to the banter of the countermen. There is art in their ability to slide an order of bacon and eggs from one end of the counter to the customer's plate side. Two of them have as a result of impromptu wit become masters of ceremony in Greenwich Village night clubs. And a play being readied for Broadway has most of its action in a brightly lit Coffee Pot, easily recognized as one of the 7th avenue favorites.

The best of the night subway drunk stories I think remains that rather venerable one Wilton Lackey used to tell of the stew who got on at Times Square, looked at a passenger, and bleated: "You are the ugliest person I ever saw." The insulted gentleman replied, "And you are the most disgustingly impolite person I ever saw." The stew weaved a few seconds and then beamed: "Yeah, but I'll be sober in the morning."

Thingumbobs: Buster West is a champion billiard shot... Molly Picon, stage darling of the Ghetto, is one of America's wealthiest actresses... Rockwell Kent is an accomplished flute player... James Cagney was once a bell hop at the Lambs... Vincent Lopez always has a go at the piano before breakfast.

THE STARS SAY:

For Wednesday, April 21

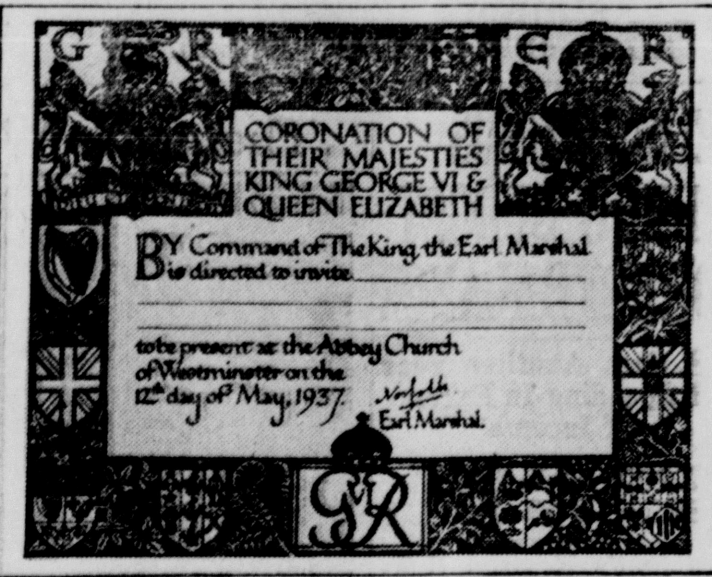

A day of outstanding significance in the line of destiny is read from the predominant lunar transits, with a propitious outcome dependent on the wise and sagacious management of peculiar, rather baffling and intriguing circumstances, as well as the shrewd grasp of fresh opportunities. With such prospects, there are also omens of difficult situations and false steps. There are auguries of important changes or travel, with secret agreements or the covert support of employers or influential persons.

If This is Our Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year of peculiar or intriguing circumstances, with much to tax the ingenuity and sagacity in manipulating unusual moves of destiny. There may be radical change, with travel and fresh contacts and interests, but all have a caste of the subtle, curious and baffling, with denouements dependent on shrewd management and not too hazardous adventures.

A child born on this day may be adventurous, ingenious and capable in many unusual enterprises. While bold and speculative, it may be subtle, shrewd and furtive, with leanings to the curious, subtle and possibly mystical or strangely romantic.

Nasal sinusitis is one of the most common diseases of modern times. Many diseases have been known for centuries, but few references to what may have been sinusitis are made in old textbooks. It may well be that changes in our habits and mode of living are responsible for many of the present-day diseases, including this.

The sinuses are hollow spaces or cavities found in the bony structure of the head and face. These spaces are lined with mucous membrane and communicate with the interior of the nose into which they drain. If this lining membrane becomes inflamed or infected, congestion, and obstruction follow, with the familiar symptoms of sinusitis.

As a rule, this disturbance can be traced to a head cold, coryza, inflammation of the upper air passages or some constitutional disease. The germs reach the sinuses where they rapidly multiply, setting up an acute irritation and infection.

Unfortunately, not every case of sinusitis is a mild one. In many instances there is pus formation, and then the infection persists for months and even years. When this occurs, the condition is known as "chronic sinusitis."

Sensitive to Changes

The victim of sinusitis is sensitive to changes of temperature and weather. He is extremely susceptible to colds and infections of the upper air passages. Persistent attacks of headache, facial neuralgia, nasal catarrh and difficulty in breathing are other symptoms of this disorder. Due to the absorption of toxins or pus from the infected sinus, the victim may suffer from arthritis, backache, indigestion, constipation and other disorders.

The pus forming in a sinus may rupture through the thin wall that separates it from the brain, the eye socket or a large blood vessel. Severe blood poisoning or dangerous infection of the eye, brain or other organs may follow this accident.

I am often asked if sinusitis is curable. If medical attention is given during the acute onset of the infection, the chances of cure are favorable.

Medical advice and treatment should always be sought. By means of the x-ray it is possible to visualize the sinuses and determine the exact location of the infection.

Never neglect a head cold. If you suffer from nasal catarrh, persistent discharge into the nose and throat, headache and facial pain, it may be you have some disturbance of the sinuses. Consult with your doctor for sound advice.

Answers to Health Queries

Mrs. C. R. M. Q.—What do you advise for hemorrhoids? Can this condition be definitely cured or is the relief purely temporary?

A.—Overcome the underlying cause of the trouble first of all. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

COLLEGE GROUP GIVES PROGRAM

Dean Roehm and students of Baldwin Wallace at Winona

Dr. Frederick Roehm, dean of Baldwin Wallace college at Berea, and a gospel team composed of the following college students, Miss Naomi Harrington of Akron; Beatrice Wade of Youngstown; Florence Porter of Cleveland; Marjorie Bowlin of the Henderson Settlement at Frakes, Ky.; Oliver Davidson of Brecksville; and William Shockey of Greenfield, were in charge of Sunday school and services at the Methodist church, Sunday morning.

Dr. Roehm spoke on "Christian Education during the church hour. Miss Harrington sang a solo, "The Holy City," and William Shockey sang "The Publican", each accompanied by Miss Porter.

This program and the church dinner which followed were held in honor of the following members of the senior class of Salem High school: Miss Juanita Whinery, Fay Andre, Belva Holmes, Geneva Whinery, Lowell Ewing, Junior Gamble and Sherman Brantingham.

Don Mayhew conducted the after-dinner program when Wallace Holmes welcomed the seniors and Miss Andre responded. Each senior gave a brief speech. Miss Wade then gave a short talk and Miss Bowlin followed her talk by singing several mountain ballads accompanied herself on the guitar, and Misses Vera and Verna Barber sang a duet, "Christ is King".

The parents of the seniors were also guests. Mrs. John Stewart, Mrs. Richard Stamp and Miss Esther Hoopes were in charge of the dinner.

It was announced that Dr. John Z. Moore, Korean missionary who is spending a few weeks at Alliance, will be guest speaker at the Mizpah class supper, Tuesday evening.

Hold Class Supper
Members of Mrs. L. A. Weaver's Sunday school class were hostesses to Raymond Barber's class of boys at a supper party held at the M. E. church Friday evening. Decorations were in spring colors of pink and green. Games were played following the supper. This was the climax of an attendance contest, won by the boys' class.

Book Club Hears Review Of Pulitzer Prize Novel

A delightful review of the 1936 Pulitzer prize novel, "Honey in the Horn," was given yesterday by Mrs. L. W. Matthews during a meeting of the Book club in the public library.

Japanese Flowers Are Discussed

An interesting and instructive talk on Japanese flower arrangements was given by Mrs. Mary Louisa B. Hill of Wilmington, Del., Monday afternoon in the McKelvey tea room in Youngstown. Nearly 200 Garden club members and others interested attended, among them Mrs. R. R. Miller, president of the Salem Garden club, and one of its members, Mrs. R. F. White.

Mrs. Hill, who spent a year in Japan studying arrangements used there, is the author of several books on the subject which are used by garden clubs as study texts.

Following her talk, Mrs. Hill offered criticism and discussed the merits of about 25 arrangements brought in by various guests. For her lecture, Mrs. Hill wore a beautiful Japanese robe which she brought from Japan.

Ellet Tent Marks Anniversary

The 13th anniversary of Mary Ellet tent No. 70, Daughters of Union Veterans, will be celebrated May 3 in the G. A. R. hall at a dinner and program, when Alliance tent members will be guests.

Plans for the affair were discussed last night at a meeting in the hall when two new members, Mrs. T. A. Claycomb and Mrs. Marie Schaefer, were initiated. The gift box was won by Mrs. Cecil Baxter. Lunch was served by Mrs. Raymond Pawcett and her committee.

Mrs. Laura Johnson Is Hostess

Mrs. Laura Johnson, Maple st., entertained 25 friends yesterday afternoon at her home, celebrating her birthday anniversary. Games and contests were enjoyed and a delightful lunch was served.

Guests included Mrs. Harvey Sponseller, Mrs. Thomas French and son, Robert, Mrs. Lyle Rymer of Columbiana.

Meeting of Garden Club Postponed

The meeting of the Salem Garden club scheduled for Monday, April 25, has been postponed until May 3. At that time the annual guest day will be observed with a luncheon in the Methodist church. Mrs. Willis Tinker of Hudson will be the speaker. Details of the program will be announced later.

A new 165-foot metal mast, weighing 6,500 pounds, is shown being stepped into the Yankee, chief rival to Vanderbilt's Ranger in the trials for the defense of the America's Cup, yachting's premier world classic. The Yankee is being reconditioned at a Neponset, Mass., shipyard.

Putting Style Into Your Trousseau

Negligee Coat and Housecoat Have Charm and Wearing Quality

By MARIE MAROT

NOW is the time for the post-Easter bride to purchase those lacy and diaphanous trifles that make of all brides "a thing of beauty and a joy forever". And now is the time, as always, to acquire several of those lovely trousseau pieces that conceal real wearing quality beneath an aspect of lovely fragility. One of the two lovely models shown here, that at the left, is a new satin negligee coat, in off-white shade, with fitted bodice, puffed sleeves and flowing skirt. The crystal globe buttons serve to close the revers high under the throat. The striking housecoat at the right has soft blue satin as the ground for a print of white birds, and it is worn over a knife-pleated chiffon slip of naler blue.

Social Events In Lisbon

Eight guests were entertained by Miss Sylvia Morris Sunday at a dinner in the Trunk tea room. Those present included Mr. and Mrs. Howard Thompson, East Liverpool; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Reese, East Palestine; Mr. and Mrs. David Walter, Lisbon; Misses Lois and Eva Armstrong, Lisbon.

Mrs. Ada Shriver will give a report on the district meeting when the Ladies of the Golden Eagle meet this evening at the lodge rooms. Cards and bingo will follow lunch.

Miss Helen Johnson will entertain the Wednesday Evening Contract club at the Warner tea room April 21.

Members of the Garden club will meet this evening at the home of Mrs. Frank Steele on Vine st.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, April 20.—Wheat prices scored advances early today after setbacks at the start. Buyers acted largely on reports that domestic crop deterioration had begun in the southwest, and that moisture dearth had made the crop outlook dubious in spring wheat areas, both north and south of the Canadian border.

Opening ½-1½ cents off, May 132½-¾, July 120½-¾, Chicago wheat futures rallied afterward in day's finish. Corn started ¼ lower to ½ higher, May 127-27½, July 117½-¾, and then made all around gains.

Child Genius?

Mary Christine Dunn

Two-year-old Mary Christine Dunn of Bonne Terre, Mo., is being hailed as a child genius. According to Mary's mother, the child can recite the Lord's prayer, has a vocabulary of more than 3,000 words and has a good memory. A psychologist at Washington university, St. Louis, disclosed tests showed the child had an intelligence quotient of 185, reputedly 45 more than the IQ normally attributed to genius.

KNOTS UNTIED

There's a knack to tying knots that hold

Thrifty Women Have Made the GAS Re- frigerator Famous!

Listen to an Electrolux when it's new—or listen to it after long service—it's silent! That's because a tiny gas flame takes the place of moving parts in its freezing system. And for the same reason, there is no wear, no loss of efficiency due to moving, wearing parts. Throughout its long life, Electrolux assures the same low running cost—the same freedom from costly re-

WOMEN'S GROUP HOLDS MEETING

Columbiana Stitcherie Club Entertained In Salem

COLUMBIANA, April 20.—The Stitcherie club, with husbands and friends, tendered Mrs. Philip Detwiler, Lowell Haney and Miss Helen Douglas a delightful surprise in honor of their birthdays, all celebrated during the week, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley McKenzie, Salem, to which they moved recently from Columbiana.

Cards, music, bingo and other games were enjoyed, after which a delicious lunch was served by members of the club. The honorees each received a lovely gift.

Those present were: Misses Alice and Thelma McKenzie, Salem; Wayne Rupert, New Waterford; Philip Madden, East Palestine, and Mr. and Mrs. Philip Detwiler, Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Haney, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Douglas, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Hetrick, Mr. and Mrs. George Barr, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Cope, Misses Vivian Mitchell and Helen Douglas, Willard Mather and Clyde Douglas.

Plan Inspection
The Pythian Sisters will have inspection and also will observe the 28th anniversary of the lodge Wednesday evening in the Knights of Pythias hall. A social hour will follow the inspection.

Class Convenes
The Queen Esther class of Grace Reformed Sunday school met Friday evening at the home of Mrs. K. W. Ferrall, with Mrs. Paul Price, Mrs. R. J. Crumbacher and Mrs. Clayton Burkhart as associate hostesses. Mrs. E. C. Gustafson had charge of devotionals and Mrs. Hosen Peppel presided at the business session. There were 15 present. Plans for a mother-daughter meeting to be held May 14 were discussed. A dainty lunch concluded the social period.

Missionary Meeting
The Foreign Missionary society of the Methodist church will hold a group meeting today in the East Palestine M. E. church, with both morning and afternoon sessions. Mrs. P. E. Griffen of the local church will preside. Mrs. C. C. Amendt, a recently returned missionary from Korea, will be guest speaker.

Columbiana Briefs
F. C. Maurer, North Main st., president of the Kenmar Furniture Co., New Waterford, has purchased a 30-acre farm about one mile north of North Lima on the Youngstown rd.

Mrs. Fred Brainerd, Union st., who has been confined to her home several months by illness, has been taken to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Homer Crumbacher, in Salem.

Thieves visited the farm of J. J. Quigley, Leetonia rd., recently and stole about 50 chickens.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Firestone are the proud parents of a baby daughter, born Friday at their home, Union st.

The annual inspection of Allen lodge, F. & A. M., was held Friday evening in Masonic hall, preceded by a banquet at Grace Reformed church.

Mrs. F. A. Henry extended hospitalization.

Theater Attractions

"You Only Live Once", at the State Wednesday and Thursday, stars Sylvia Sidney and Henry Fonda.

During a season in which stark drama and reality have dominated legitimate stage work and films, there comes another human, gripping story, "You Only Live Once", with Sylvia Sidney and Henry Fonda, who played together in the technicolor "Trail of the Lonesome Pine".

"You Only Live Once", showing at the State Wednesday and Thursday, is tense, somber and a bit depressing. It's ending leaves one wondering why—but the picture is regarded as one of the best to come out of filmland in some time.

Seen As Convict

Fonda is seen in the role of a young convict trying to go straight after three convictions. Miss Sidney is his wife, who induces him to get honest work, marrying him against the advice of her older sister, Jean Dixon, and her employer, Barton MacLane, who is in love with her. Six months after their marriage Fonda loses his job for a minor violation of company rules—and because he is an ex-convict. At the same time a lone bandit wearing a gas mask robs a bank, kills several people and escapes with a million dollar haul. A hat with the initials of the young convict in the talley to members of the South Side club Thursday afternoon at her home. Mrs. D. J. Miller will be the next club hostess.

Richard Lehman, an employee of the G. M. McKeely Co., Youngstown, for several years, has resigned to enter the hardware business with his father, H. H. Lehman.

Mrs. Ezra Brickman is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Frank Spott, and family, New Middletown.

Mrs. Hattie Heston has been spending a few days in Akron with her son, A. L. Heston, and family.

WHAT A WRECK CONSTIPATION MAKES

Constipation can dull your whole life. Headaches, poor complexions — tired, lifeless days are often the results. Also, many serious diseases.

Get rid of common constipation now with a ready-to-eat cereal — Kellogg's ALL-BRAN.

ALL-BRAN brings you the two things your system needs to act naturally: "bulk" and vitamin B to help tone the intestines.

Within the body, ALL-BRAN absorbs more than twice its weight in water — forms a soft mass, and gently clears the intestines of wastes. It acts naturally.

Pills and drugs seldom cure constipation. You just keep on increasing the dose and switching from one laxative to another.

Just eat two tablespoonsful of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN every day, three times daily if needed. Serve as a cereal with milk or cream, or use in recipes. Sold by all grocers — made and guaranteed by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

would do should insurgent warships open fire on food ships was not known.

While the fleet of some 60 ves-

Spain, 265 officers drawn from the British, Danish, Dutch, Swedish, Belgian and Turkish armies took control of the land frontiers.

Talking About Presidents?

Led Volunteers

Joe Dallet, of Cleveland, O., was the leader of the band of American volunteers arrested at the French frontier when they tried to cross into Spain to fight for the Loyalists. Dal-message and scaled down revenue forecasts substantially.

Income tax revenue has fallen substantially below estimates, Robinson said, adding:

"This accentuates the importance of limiting the appropriations to be made."

Faced with a $6,000,000 spread between income and outgo each day, the treasury has started a new financing operation to put $50,000,- 000 weekly into federal coffers.

The first of a series of $50,000,000 discount bill issues to provide new cash was sold yesterday at an average interest rate of 0.545 per cent.

Bills Maturing
The treasury has $300,000,000 of bills maturing June 15, and some authorities predict these will be replaced with long-term obligations.

In his original budget message,
Mr. Roosevelt said that exclusive of debt retirement the 1938 budget would be balanced if relief outlays did not exceed $1,500,000,000. The drop in tax revenues under estimates upset this forecast, however.

Relief expenses during the present fiscal year, Works Progress Administration officials said will be between $1,800,000,000 and $1,850,- 000,000.

Early in the winter Administrator
Harry Hopkins announced a schedule for curtailing WPA rolls to last week showed the goal was far from reached.

New York Expected to Draw Biggest Crowds With Three Teams Playing Home Tilts

Detroit Tigers Entertain Cleveland Indians; Astonishing Spectacle of Two Philly Teams Leading Leagues Shows Anything Can Happen

NEW YORK, April 20.—The astonishing spectacle of the two Philadelphia teams, almost unanimously chosen for the cellar berths, leading the major leagues testified to the possibility of almost anything today as the teams lined up for the "real" opening after the preliminaries at Washington and Boston.

Given good baseball weather all around, an outpouring of more than 200,000 fans was anticipated in seven cities.

New York, with its three metropolitan teams performing within the limits of the greater city for the first unanimous opening day in 25 years, looked for the biggest crowds. At least 50,000 were expected at the Yankee stadium to see the world champions open against Washington's Senators, yesterday's 4-3 victims of the Philadelphia Athletics. Some 30,000 more were looked for at Brooklyn's Ebbetts field to see Burleigh Grimes lead his Dodgers against their traditional rivals, the Giants, for the first time.

The triumphant Athletics returned home to face the Boston Red Sox. Detroit's Tigers entertained the Cleveland Indians and Chicago's White Sox hooked up with the Browns at St. Louis in other American league openers.

Manager Frank Francis Frisch of the St. Louis Cardinals called upon his loudest star, Dizzy Dean, to start the Gas House Gang at Cincinnati where a capacity gathering of 34,000 was expected. A pair of first-division prospects, Pittsburgh and the Cubs, met in Chicago.

The Phillies, with Manager Jimmy Wilson posing as the most contented man in baseball after his club beat the Boston Bees 2-1 in 11 innings and 1-0 in yesterday's Patriots' day bill at Boston, drew a day off, along with their opponents.

Two of the game's shining stars were on the sidelines and there was a rather notable casualty list through both leagues. Jimmy Fox, the Red Sox first baseman, was recovering from sinus trouble and Joe DiMaggio, Yankee center fielder, from an operation for removal of his tonsils and adenoids.

Manager Mickey Coker of Detroit had a few words over the illnesses of Pitchers Tommy Bridges and Schoolboy Rowe but was consoled by the knowledge of his own good health and by the return of Hank Greenberg to his old first-basing job as well as the acquisition yesterday of hard-hitting Babe Herman.

The Yanks' Charley (Red) Ruffing and Dolph Camilli of the Phillies, who wasn't greatly missed yesterday, remained as the No. 1 hotshots—the only players unsigned on the opening day.

Virtually the only certainty was that the Phillies would remain atop the National league for at least one more day. They won their first contest yesterday when Morris Aronovich hit a home run in the 11th.

Sylvester Johnson limited the Bees to four hits in eight innings of this contest while both his successors, Bucky Walters, and Danny MacFayden turned in four-hitters in the afternoon. Errors by Tony Cuccinello and Rabbit Warbler gave the Phils their run.

A pair of rookies, Al Williams and Earle Brucker, accounted for the Athletics' victory. After President Roosevelt lobbied out the first ball, Edgar Smith, another rookie finger, kept on lobbing until the Senators collected three runs in two innings. Williams then hurled four hit ball for the remainder of the game while Brucker's double in the tenth brought in Bob Johnson with the winning run.

WOMEN'S MAPLE TOPPLING MEET READY TO OPEN

Team Event of Tourney For Ladies To Be Held Tomorrow

Salem's feminine keggers were all set today to start firing in their second annual handicap tenpin tournament which opens at the Masonic temple alleys tomorrow night with eight quite bidding for the team championship.

The doubles event of the tournament is scheduled for one week from tomorrow, Wednesday, April 28, while the singles will be run off Thursday, April 29. Only one night will be used to conduct each event.

Scratch for the tournament has been set at 138. Bowlers who have rolled two-thirds or more of scheduled league games will be given handicaps of 70 per cent of the difference between their official averages and scratch, while keggers who have rolled less than two-thirds of league games will get handicaps of 50 per cent of the difference between averages and scratch.

Six feminine keggers will come under the no-handicap class since their averages are better or equal to scratch.

The eight quintets competing for the team championship tomorrow night are Mullins Office, Elks No. 1, Salem China, American Automobile Association, Salem News, Elks No. 2, Kresge's and Ohio Edison.

All of these teams were members of the Masonic Ladies' league during the regular season and finished in the league in the following order:

	Won	Lost
A. A. A.	61	23
Elks No. 2	58	26
Mullins Office . .	55	29
Ohio Edison . . .	54	30
Kresge	47	37
Salem China . . .	28	56
Salem News . . .	17	67
Elks No. 1	17	67

Only two shifts will be used to run off the team event of the tourney, but in the doubles and singles events, six one-hour shifts will be used, starting at 6 p. m. and ending at 12 midnight. In the team event, the shifts will be from 7 to 9 p. m. and 9 to 11 p. m.

The complete schedule for the tournament is as follows:

TEAM EVENT
Wednesday, April 21

MARATHON KING WOULD LIKE JOB

Hunger Threatens Family Of Youth Who Won Boston Distance Race

BOSTON, April 20.—If cheers could drown financial worries and laurel wreath and a silver trophy defy the hunger that threatens his family, jobless Walter Young, lanky 24-year-old winner of the 40th Boston A. A. marathon, would be superlatively happy today.

But the transitory rewards of victory, although sweet, are far from adequate and he hopes that his proud townsmen of Verdun, Quebec, will give him a chance to get off the relief rolls after four years and become a policeman.

"A job is what I want most," said Young, after he had beaten Arlington's great Johnny Kelley, the 1935 winner and the outstanding favorite.

Young won in his third attempt. He and Kelly ran side by side until three miles from the finish line of the 26 mile course, the Canadian unleashed a mighty spurt that enabled him to pick up almost five minutes.

Ohio Wesleyan and Otterbein previously had fallen before the Kenyon aggregation.

Bowling Banquet Planned At Association Meeting

Annual Get-Together of Salem Keglers Will Be Held At German Hall Thursday, May 20

Arrangements for the annual banquet for bowlers of all Salem men's leagues were made at a meeting of the board of control of the Salem Bowling association at the Masonic temple last night.

It was decided to hold the banquet at 6 p. m. Thursday, May 20, at the German hall on Railroad st., following the official close of the bowling season May 17, when the last league games will be rolled.

Two important features of the banquet will be the election of officers of the association for the coming year and the distribution of prize awards to winners of the recent city handicap tenpin tournament by W. H. Jurgens, secretary of the association. Several leagues may also distribute prize money at the banquet.

EASTERN TEAMS ON TOP IN ABC

Collburn Wheels of Syracuse Take Place With Leaders

NEW YORK, April 20.—Eastern bowling appears a little better as a result of the work of the Collburn Wheel and Roll quintet of Syracuse, N. Y.

The Syracuse team climaxed a drive on ABC leaders yesterday by becoming the third eastern team in the first ten in the team standings with a 3,009 total, scores on games of 1,033, 1,006, and 970. Until the disappointing last game the Collburns were a threat for first place. The other two eastern clubs, are the Behringer diamond of Buffalo with 3,045 for fourth place and the pastime A. C. of Syracuse with 3,045 for sixth.

Ned Day of Milwaukee missed knocking Willie Ward out of first place in the all-events standings by 25 pins in the day's only change in the standings. He rolled 2014 for his final all events standing with a singles score of 699, made yesterday, and team score of 637 and doubles score of 688.

SANDUSKY HIGH DEFENDS TITLE AT RELAY MEET

Half-Dozen Threats For Championship of Mansfield Track Meet

MANSFIELD, April 20.—Director Harry Edgar Mechock listed today a half-dozen threats to Sandusky High's defending champions in the eleventh annual renewal of the Mansfield relays Saturday.

As the entry list swelled hourly, he named the state championship Cleveland East Tech team, Toledo Scott and Mansfield as strong Ohio rivals along with a trio of out-of-state high school squads.

Invaders given a good chance of finishing high in the ranking were strong Vincent of Erie, Pa., Bendel of Flint, Mich., and Eastern High of Saginaw, Mich.

Mechock, assistant athletic director at the local high school, found in looking over entries that at least four defending individual champions will return.

They are Charles Magr of Sandusky who holds the discus record of 128 feet, 10 inches; William Young of Toledo Libbey, whose 43.6 seconds is the 440-yard dash mark; John Collista of the Erie school, who has made 23 seconds in the 220-yard dash and Gilbert Weigand of Mansfield, who holds a record of 164 feet, 11½ inches for the javelin throw.

Preliminary events start Saturday morning.

NEW YORK.—Lew Feldman, 134, New York, outpointed Irving Eldridge, 134½, New York (8).

Three New Teams Planning To Enter Class A Mushball League for Coming Season

Mullins Foremen Again Expected To Be Strong Entry In Senior Circuit; Organization Meetings For Both Leagues Are Formed

The moguls of city league softball, stern-faced guys who take their sport just as seriously as major league baseball managers take theirs, emerge from seven months seclusion this week to begin rounding up old players, searching for new ones and shaping teams for the coming season.

Although never completely out of touch with their last year's playing squads, managers of Class A and Class B league teams devote this time each year to looking around and seeing that everything is shipshape for the opening of the season sometime early in May if the weather permits.

As usual several new teams will probably make their debuts in one of the leagues, but in general the same aggregations which have been boosting softball in Salem for more than 10 years will be the backbone of both circuits.

Among the new teams expected to break into the Class A league this season are Demings, Ohio Edison and the Salem News. These three have already indicated that they will seek franchises in the senior circuit. The News will be taking its first crack at city league softball, while Demings and the Ohio Edison will be re-entering league play after several years as non-participants.

The big gun of the Class A loop is again expected to be Mullins Foremen's club, which has captured the city championship three years in a row. Managed by Russ Smith, Mullins can be counted on to have one of the best fielding teams in the league and there is a possibility that their pitching strength may be bolstered with the addition of several new players.

Other teams from last year's Class A circuit due back for action this year include the Elks, runner-up for the 1936 championship; the Salem Hardware, Nobil's Shoes, Trades Class and the Salem China.

One team from last year's league, the United Cigars, will not rejoin the circuit this year, it is reported, while still another, the Natural Gas Co., has not made known as yet whether it will be represented this season.

The Class B league is expected to have the same lineup this year as it did last with eight teams making up the circuit. These teams are: Methodists, Christians, Baptists, Holy Trinity Lutherans, Emmanuel Lutherans, Friends, Columbians and Presbyterians.

Organization of the two leagues for the season's play and the setting of opening dates will be made at a meeting of managers which will probably be held the latter part of this week or early next week. Joe Kelley, director of the softball leagues, will be in charge of the meetings.

The advent of new teams into the Class A league is expected to cause several player disputes at the senior circuit meeting. A number of players now listed as members of one of last year's league teams, are certain to ask release from their contracts so they can play with new league entries.

Kelley announced recently that there is a possibility that new contracts will be signed by players this season.

Seniors Lead High School Inter-Class Track Meet

Nine events of the annual two-day Salem high school inter-class track and field meet were run off at Reilly stadium yesterday with the Seniors coping most of the honors to score 48 points and take the lead.

Six events will be conducted today to wind-up the meet. Points made by lettermen do not count in the class totals.

Best performances in yesterday's events was a throw of 109 feet, 5 inches by Max Lutsch in the discus and the time of 4 minutes, 49 seconds by Paul Roelen in the mile. Both are lettermen.

The Sophomores are in second place in the present standings of the meet with 26½ points. The Juniors are in third with 9½ points, while the Freshmen bring up the rear with 8 points.

BOWLING RESULTS

Tied with the Federals for first place in the American league last week, the Electric Furnace took a temporary lead in the circuit last night as it banged out three games over 900 to sweep a match with the Salem News.

The Federals, who do not roll until Friday, will probably tie up the championship race again.

In winning their three games last night, the Furnace keglers set a new high team score for the league with a total of 2,749.

The first place race in the Quaker City league remained tied last night as both the Tigers and Smith's Garage won three games.

Six Salem Players On Placencia Team

Lake Placencia baseballers were slated to go through their second workout today, preparing for their intra-squad game at the lake diamond this coming Sunday.

Six Salem players—Alden West, Charley McCloskey, Paul Stratton, Bob Chappell, Ray Willis and Sam Drakulich—are taking part in the Placencia drills. Others practicing with the lake team include Bus Simpson and John Hrovatic of Lisbon; Ted Schwarzhoff of Akron; Ralph Fox, Red Miller, Paul Yoder and Joe and Walter Schwartzhoff of Alliance; Woods of Kensington and Paul Wang and Willis Shofner of North Georgetown.

Practices are scheduled for Tuesday and Friday of each week until the season opens.

WHITNEY SEES JINX BLASTED FOR 63RD DERBY

Three Colts Eligible and Two Probably Will Go To Post

NEW YORK, April 20.—Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney's Elton blue and brown silks are represented by three colts in the 63rd Kentucky Derby, America's outstanding race for 3-year-olds.

Black Look, Flying Cross and Ptolemy are the young sportsman's potential standard bearers in the $50,000 added event slated for decision at Churchill Downs Saturday, May 8. All three colts are Whitney-bred from muzzle to hock.

Black Look, by Whicohone, out of Beaming, was campaigned lightly in 1936. He started four times, winning one race. In that race, however, he broke the heart of the late Golden F., a filly that had won her eight previous starts. In his next start the colt finished fourth to Pompoon, Fencing and War Admiral in the National Stallion Stakes, beaten only two and a half lengths for all the money. He was retired late in September. Flying Cross made 12 trips to the races as a juvenile. He won two, finished second once and was third twice, earning $7,050. He is a handsome bay by Pennant-Blessings. Both Black Look and Flying Cross are well advanced in their training for their 3-year-old engagements. Quartered at the Whitney farm in Kentucky, the colts have proved their distance running ability to the satisfaction of Trainer Tom Healy and are being pointed for the mile and a quarter stakes next month.

Ptolemy, a bay colt by Whicohone-Thais, was the only one of the Whitney trio that was raced this season. In eight starts as a 3-year-old colt won once, was second once and third twice. His best race was in the Santa Anita Derby. On that occasion he came from far back in the homestretch to finish third to Fairy Hill and Military. He was running over the leaders at the finish.

In 1936 Ptolemy made 10 starts. He won only one race and finished third twice. He was late in reaching top form as a juvenile and therefore not reserved for the big 3-year-old special. For that reason it is expected he may not start in the Derby.

C. V. Whitney never has won the Kentucky Derby. His father, however, won with Regret, the only filly ever to capture the coveted stake, in 1915, and with Whiskery in 1927.

Whitney expects to win his first Derby this year. Last season he entered Bright Plumage and Triumphant, but neither colt went to the post. In 1931, Equipse, a colt that later in his career set a mile world's record that still stands, went wrong a few hours before the big race and had to be withdrawn.

In 1935, Today, after beating Omaha in the Wood Memorial Handicap at Jamaica, was favorite for the Gol. Watt Wain feature race, but failed to finish in the money.

Brewers Cop Third Straight In League

CHICAGO, April 20.—The champion Milwaukee Brewers, who had to wait 22 years between their last two American association pennants, apparently are determined to hang onto the bunting for another season. The Brewers yesterday won their third straight game, defeating the high-powered Minneapolis Millers, 8 to 7, in a series opener at Milwaukee. The manner in which the champions turned the trick indicates they have plenty of power again.

"Leisure to Repent"

by Ursula Parrott

CHAPTER XXIV

On that evening when first he felt physically comfortable, and assured that he would in time be more or less able to go on with things, his father had his dinner brought to him, on a tray beside Keith's bed. That had become his daily custom.

His old face now had a triumphant look, as if his son's recovery were largely due to his insistence, his imposition of will upon that crew of dubious physicians! Why, the boy would be well as ever shortly, and much more of a man, for losing some of his mother's beauty.

He said: "You're feeling like yourself, Keith. We can talk."

His son nodded, just resisted saying, "Only, we've never been able to talk," and waited.

"Nice amount of publicity you got yourself, and Felicia."

Keith spoke aloud then: "You are unexpectedly amiable about it."

"Too bad you didn't have a critical illness in your childhood."

"I don't see the connection, Father."

"Simple enough. Never knew I was fond of you until I thought I might lose you. Could have known, years sooner, if you'd had scarlet fever or something of that sort."

"Better late than never, I suppose."

"Don't joke, Keith. I'm serious."

His father's old gaze was fixed on the curtained windows. "Something I should tell you, Keith."

I would never have—have lost your mother, if I'd been willing to say I wasn't always right."

Perhaps that was true, Keith thought. Perhaps pretty Mary Sheldie might have endured her life, might even have enjoyed its wealth, and the power implicit behind it, if his father had been just a degree less omniscient, less arbitrary.

"I suppose," the older man said in the warmest voice his son had ever heard come from between those firm lips, "some one or other told you that old story, about your mother and me."

Keith nodded.

"A musician!" his father said bitterly. "Didn't know how to take care of her. She was always a soft delicate little thing. I wouldn't have minded so much, if he'd been able to give her things—make her comfortable."

That man with whom Mary Sheldie ran away had given her nothing but death. There was no possible answer. Apparently his father expected none. He went on:

"I treated her badly. While I wouldn't admit that, I treated you badly too, because you were her son. She died. I couldn't bear for her son to die, last bit of her in the world."

He paused. Then he said quietly: "Keith, a man's life is his own; so I have no reproaches for you. Only, I wish you'd faced it out, gone to the woman's husband. It would have been more—more—"

"We were on our way to her husband," Keith interrupted. "That weekend, we talked it over."

"All right, I don't want to know." But Keith could tell that his father was relieved!

"It's odd, Father, that you decided to talk about this. I was just at the point of having enough energy to want to communicate with her. She must be having a very difficult time."

"No," said that old man. "Only soft women have a very difficult time."

"Felicia's not quite as hard as she pretended," Keith said.

"That's good. You should defend her. Not many people will." There were memories in his voice now that Keith could only guess about. Did he wish that little Mary Sheldie had found more defenders in her last hours?

"I suppose she'll go to Reno, Father, and it'll be a six weeks' scandal. Then people will forget."

"Yes, those things are more easily managed nowadays."

"Will you send a telegram to her from me, Father? I'll have to dictate it, until they take this cast off."

"No. I mean I'll send it if you want, but I wish you'd stop and think first."

His manner of saying that was so quiet, so undemanding, that Keith could not be exasperated.

"What is there to think about, though, Father? I can't be blamed for not letting her know I was standing by, in these weeks when I've been in a fairly dazed state. But surely I must let her know now, as quickly as is possible."

Hesitantly, his father spoke. "I've been so antagonistic to you, Keith, that I've no right to ask you to listen to me now. But I wish you would."

"Of course I will." He was just a little impatient about it, though. What was the use of long discussion?

His father said: "I want you to stop and think of the person in this situation about whom no one ever thinks, except with a sort of amusement, and with curiosity. I want you to think of her husband."

"Not much use now, is it?"

"Perhaps. Perhaps not. Because I was once the husband in a case like this, his position seems important to me. He has so small a chance. I've been finding out, as much as I could discreetly, Keith, about what's happening to her and her husband. His people are causing as much trouble, as possible, but Eustace Dayne is saying nothing, calling on his wife three times a day, behaving to his friends as if his marriage were just as permanent as before—as before what happened. He seems to be in love with her, Keith."

"I don't doubt it. She's not, though, with him."

His father hurried his words. "Please don't think I'm blaming her, or you. Unaccountable things happen to people. Only one has to be told to admit that truly."

"You may as well know, Father, she's not madly in love with me, either."

"Nor you with her. I judged that."

The seven words were a statement.

Even so, Keith felt they demanded some show of protest. "In my fashion."

"Not as you once were in love with her sister. I spoiled that for you."

"Not altogether. I had a hand in it. Which is pretty much beside the point. She married the better man, as the Victorians would have phrased it piously. This is a fairly difficult conversation, Father."

"Yes. It's difficult to be intimate. Better not, most of the time. My attempt is only—" He stopped and began again.

"Perhaps, perhaps she'll want to go on with her husband after she realizes how well he's behaving. If that were so—"

"Can't be so. She's proud."

"Then do this. Wait a little, to make sure you're right."

"To give Eustace Dayne his chance, in short."

"Yes."

"I should say he's had a chance in the nearly four years of their marriage."

"It's in crises that you have your chance."

Keith was suddenly dreadfully tired. It could all wait for another day, surely. He was thinking: "In crises you have your chance." On an October day when the leaves were splashes of gold and yellow on the lawns in the park, when Denise had so desperately wanted him to give her reassurance; and he had been determined not to be hurried! His chance was blown as far as last October's air.

When he was well enough, he wrote to Felicia, telephoned the switchboard of her apartment to make sure she was at home, learned that she was at her father's, and sent the letter on by messenger.

It was, as he wrote, a completely inadequate letter, but he could manage no better, for recollection of his father's sentence stifled anything tender he might have said: "I want you to think of him of whom no one in these situations thinks, except with a sort of amusement, with curiosity."

No, he would not write love-letters to Felicia until she and her husband were officially separated. He would write no more than was necessary. She was fastidious, and would understand.

She was fastidious; but, as did not occur to him, she was too preoccupied with her own problems to be able to analyze Keith's.

He was startled by the indignation plain in her response, wrote a rapid answer—and read in the next day's paper of her sailing.

He was neither relieved, nor very angry with her. She must do what she wanted. He would prefer to go on with her than alone, since now he never would go on with Denise. But his preference was not vital.

Realizing that it was not, he realized how much deeper had been his affection for that girl who had not waited for him, but had made haste to resolve her life. The old tag was: "Marry in haste, and repent at leisure." Denise had had, by now, leisure to repent. But whether she had repented or not, he was scarcely likely to discover.

It was incredible that Felicia should expect Keith to visit her at Denise's house! So he thought, until the moment of receiving Felicia's wireless from the boat. Then he decided that he understood. (By then he'd looked over a file of newspapers.) Felicia felt the need of fortifying herself with the chaparrone of her well-married sister, her brother-in-law and her parents.

Sudden decision came to him. If Felicia wanted that—and Denise was willing—he would go. He would look at Denise, happy with her husband, probably, and no doubt be come a stranger who would be regarded without much interest, as happy young wives had a way of regarding men they had not married. Her eyes would be serene.

(She had said to him once: "I shall never hate you. I've cared too much." He had said to her once: "Nothing nowadays is forever." But ten crowded months had separated them from the people who said those things so confidently.)

And having looked at Denise, and at her husband, he would do whatever her charming sister suggested thereafter.

Keith had seen very few friends during his convalescence, none of whom had mentioned to him, or were likely to, that Gilbert Windon was coming back to America, while his wife would spend the summer in England with her people. He took it for granted that his invitation would come, if it came, with Gilbert Windon's knowledge and approval. So he wirelessed Felicia he would come if Denise asked him.

For a long time thereafter he heard nothing from her or of her. (To Be Continued.)
